[redacted] (u) has furnished reliable information in the past, and whose identity should be concealed, furnished a written report concerning the subject organization to SA [redacted] which is contained in Los Angeles file [redacted]

(u) The above-mentioned report was concerned with a staff meeting of the captioned organization. At this meeting the staff discussed the program for this organization for the balance of the year. A portion of the organization's program concerned its relationship with the YM-YWCA. Informant reported that [redacted] went into detail as to the operations of the "Y". [redacted] stated that one [redacted] (PH) was her house guest at [redacted] and that [redacted] had been with the YWCA for some [redacted] years. [redacted] continued that [redacted] suggested to her that the Sobell Committee attempt to have a speaker at the "Y" Ailomar Western Regional Conference to be held in December 1959. The YM-YWCA has a program for youth concerning political responsibility, and since the Sobell case is a national issue, it, therefore, is likely that the YM-YWCA could be convinced to do more than they did recently when they published facts concerning the case during late spring 1959 in the YM-YWCA "Intercollegiate."

[redacted] continued that it was suggested to her that Regional Directors and Assistant Directors be seen and spoken to about the case before the conference at Ailomar. Since the [redacted]

On August 21, 1959, SA [redacted] telephonically contacted the University of California at Los Angeles Chapter of the YMCA as an unidentified caller, and ascertained that [redacted] is [redacted] and that after September 1, 1959, she will have the address of [redacted].

Also contained in the above-cited informant report was the fact that during this meeting [redacted] mentioned that STEVE ALLEN of television prominence had directed his secretary to send a check for $4.00 to the National Sobell Committee with a request for MALCOLM SHARP's book on the Sobell Committee. It was stated that STEVE ALLEN is spending the summer in Encino, California, and, according to [redacted] appears to be sympathetic to the Sobell case. (X)(U)

On 9/15/59 [redacted] USP, Atlanta, Ga., made available copy of a letter from HELEN SOBELL addressed to her husband, an inmate at that institution. [redacted] made available this letter for review in view of numerous names mentioned therein which may be of assistance in security investigations being conducted by this Bureau. It is noted this letter is dated 9/11/59, and was apparently written from Los Angeles, California. The contents of this letter contain the following pertinent excerpts:

"We got a very exciting letter from New York saying that STEVE ALLEN had ordered 100 copies of our reprint containing the statement by Dr. PAUL LEHMAN entitled 'MORTON SOBELL, Symbol of the Christian's concern for Justice'. I had called his secretary that very morning in an effort to arrange an appointment because we knew of his previous interest, and I'm to call him back Monday when STEVE ALLEN will be in town."

[redacted] and her two sons were permitted to go home in Georgia. The above statement refers to

They were paroled on 8/28/59 by Georgia State authorities. The [redacted] were the subject of various protest marches originating in subversive circles in New York City several years ago.

Mrs. SOBELL indicated she would be leaving Los Angeles for Phoenix on the 17th of September, 1959, and will be back in Los Angeles on the 20th because it is a lot easier to travel from Los Angeles to New York, than from Phoenix to New York.

HELEN SOBELL mentions having an appointment with one [redacted] on 9/12/59.

On 9/15/59, [redacted] USP, Atlanta, also made available copy of letter dated 9/1/59 from HELEN SOBELL addressed to her husband. The contents of this letter are set forth verbatim hereinafter:

"Tues. Sept. 1, 1959
6:30 P.M. #43

"My own dearest MORTY,

"Yesterday was a long day in San Diego and we did many things. I met with a group of ministers and they are going to invite all of the clergymen in the area to join with them. I also had dinner with the [redacted] who sent their warmest regards and were wonderfully hospitable. It was a real pleasure to see them again. In the evening we had a party and I was really konked by the time the day was over. This morning we worked on a TV interview, and then I took the plane back to L. A.

AT 100-4953

"in time for a big luncheon meeting which was just fine. I met a woman there who had cut my hair years ago when I was in L. A. and after the meeting we went to a friend's home, and she gave me a very nice haircut.

"I got your last two letters from [redacted] when she picked me up, and I was very sad to hear of all of the not good things which you are experiencing, my love. I'm sorry you are so grumpy, not for me, but because it makes you feel not good in yourself. It was too bad you did not get too much enjoyment out of your tennis matches.

"I'm writing this now as we are driving back out to the beach to see some people and deliver a borrowed station wagon which [redacted] and [redacted] used for the moving back. Good morning, my love, it's now 10:20 and for the first time in a long while, I slept late this morning. [redacted] is staying with a friend who has 2 boys, and a pool, so he's fine.

"I've been re-reading your last letters this morning (I'm alone in a very pleasant home, and again I'm disturbed by your rash and your teeth problems. I hope, as I said before, that all will be well, and I'm glad you tell me that there is not too much cause for worry.

"So, finally, after all these years, you have the McLACKLIN book. It should be absorbing to tackle the 100 problems presented. I'm afraid that I won't have a chance to read the Fromm book for quite a while, but I'll leave it in mind.

"I do think I operate somewhat along the lines of conservation of psychic energy, and it may be that you have struck up on a chord which explains some of the differences in attitude we have had from time to time. There have been instances where you have suggested to me

"that a real exploration of a situation would result in more clarity, and I have felt sufficiently aware of the psychic drains (to no avail) inherent, so that I have not wanted more clarity.

[redacted] take the surf much better than I do because he is much faster in movement and can ride the waves. Also he has no objections to getting sloughed around in the sandy water in a prone position, and I don't care for it. He has been taking pictures and he did have a chance to talk to our photographer friend in S. F.

"I see when I read your words about my writing frequency, I misunderstood you and I felt you were really calling me to task, but you are doing nothing of the sort. I guess I still carry over from the time when the omission of a letter was most traumatic. I shall be more relaxed and know that you have much much maturity in this direction.

"Yes, [redacted] came with his wife to our big dinner in S. F. which is not exactly the same as having had dinner with him. As I told you before, I don't feel I will be able to make the trip to Mexico at this time, and I have another idea about it which may work out better.

"I got the govt's brochure on the parole board's composition and rules and it is most interesting. Have you every had access or do you know the almost unlimited discretion which applies? My schedule here is pretty full so that I don't know how much time I'll be able to spend at the beaches, but we'll see. I just talked to [redacted] who has just returned from Mexico and we'll be getting together in the next couple of days. [redacted] will stay there for a while.

"Most important of all and everything, be well, my love, and hold me very close, and know that I love thee with all my heart. Your HELEN, all time.

"HELEN SOBELL"

AT 100-4953

In the event any of the above information is utilized in investigative reports, the source of this information should be concealed inasmuch as [redacted] at the USP does not desire his identity be made known.

... and I picked up my glasses in the afternoon, and I was idea of this. I can't quite understand why although there are many which seem plausible. He looks fine in his, and wine are not either, although that is not too important a factor. The wedding moment. Maybe they will help in overcoming some of the fatigue thing. You know a very good thing happened in your state. On Aug. 20, [redacted] and her two sons were permitted to go home. It was a very thing to read about. I do believe that there is almost a physical lead to situations like that one which are very draining.

Schedule-wise I'll be leaving L.A. for Phoenix on the 17th, and I will probably leave [redacted] here and come back to pick him up on the 20th because it is a lot easier to get from L.A. to N.Y. than from Phoenix. Also, a very nice thing has happened here in that the friend which whom I am staying has just become engaged, and is getting married on the 20th. The both of them met at a Sobell party initially, got to know each other washing dishes until 4 in the morning at another party for us, and now, while I have been staying here, have decided to get married. Part of their reason for getting married is that they have pledged to raise $100 by Dec. 1, and they figured they could get a lot of people to come to the wedding reception and contribute instead of bringing presents. That sounds a little flip, but it really is a very nice thing, and both [redacted] are wonderful people. Last night we were celebrating the announcement of the engagement, and [redacted] of course, brought champagne, and during the afternoon, we had gone to Olvera Street which is a reconstructed street of the original Mexican settlement of Los Angeles, and we bought some shells which were filled with confetti, and we broke them over the happy le. The room is still full of confetti, but [redacted] says she's going to it here until after the wedding.

After all this we went to a Japanese restaurant, and we ate suki-yaki teri-yaki in a little room where we sat on seats of the floor, and had to off our shoes before entering (I thought of your endorsement of this practice is was very novel and interesting to see the suki-yaki cooked before your and to have the waitresses wearing their authentic costumes. The food was delicious, although the whole thing has a very other-worldly quality so that [redacted] asked me when he woke up this morning, did we really have a dinner last night, or was that just a dream I had. This morning he is over with [redacted] kid who is about 14, and he is an electronics enthusiast who is fixing radios and setting up gadgets of his own. Pretty soon now, we will be picked up by [redacted] who will take us to lunch with [redacted] and [redacted] and then later, [redacted] will pick me up. It's a horribly scorching day today, and I probably will not get too much done today. I have no meeting tonight.
 meeting on Wednesday night was not too inspiring, but it's one more day belts, so there it is.

Tomorrow is a big dinner, and then afterwards I have an appointment with [redacted] and we should be able to get some things worked out. I'll give a most loving farewell, my own dearest Morty. I hope you continue to be in good health, and that you can vary your routine enough so that it not become too oppressive. (That's pretty drastic, skipping meals, not [redacted] I've gained 3 or 4 lbs. I think. I'll probably go back [redacted]

(back.) I love thee with all my heart. Your wife, Helen, Helen, all yours,

NCSJMS, cited by House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA), has twofold purposes: (1) remove Sobell from Alcatraz (in 2/58 he was transferred to Atlanta Penitentiary) and (2) obtain either his release, reduction of sentence or new trial. NCSJMS has had a program of obtaining support from prominent persons and apparently through the efforts of [redacted] elicited from Steve Allen, TV personality, a promise to assist the Sobell cause in the future. Los Angeles advised that Allen [redacted]

Relations with Allen have in the past been cordial. Director thanked him for mentioning "Masters of Deceit" on his program and on 2/25/59 the Director clarified an erroneous impression Allen had gotten from certain press reports that he was being investigated by the Bureau. Bufiles failed to disclose any other identifiable references to Allen.

Allen in the past has "editorialized" on his show, sometimes concerning controversial subjects. If he mentions the alleged "frame-up" of Morton Sobell, we can expect a certain amount of sympathy from "do-gooders" throughout the country, which is exactly what captioned organization wants. It would be most advantageous to check Allen before his nationwide audience is exposed to this unwanted propaganda. To do this we considered using [redacted] as an intermediary; however, Bufiles show [redacted] is a Key Figure of the Los Angeles Office and [redacted] in the past has been a headline grabber and crusader.

To approach Allen himself may possibly result in embarrassment to the Bureau. Therefore, as an alternative it is believed that contact should be made by Mr. DeLoach with a suitable official of the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) to acquaint him with the facts concerning Allen's apparent support of the Sobell cause for whatever action he sees fit to undertake. Through this action the Bureau will not be involved or placed in an embarrassing position.

Memorandum from Mr. Baumgardner to Mr. Belmont dated 9-22-59 relates to the fact that Helen Sobell, Morton Sobell's wife, has elicited from Steve Allen, TV personality on NBC, a promise to assist the Sobell cause on his program. Further Allen presumably gave Helen Sobell permission to publicize his interest in the case.

The Director stated it would be all right to alert appropriate NBC officials.

The Education of Steve Allen

MARK I. AM... by Steve Allen. Boston, Mass.: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1958. $4.95.

By MIKE NEWBERRY

THE YOUNG MAN with the starry-eyed eyeglasses on the cover of this book is not the Skeesiz of a comic you know. He is Steve Allen but he is not that Steve Allen. Jayne Meadows, his wife, says it well when she comments that he is really eight other men: "A published writer of earthy prose and poetry, a deep thinker, a comedian, a pianist, a composer, a crusader, a motion picture star, and a tender father." She is too modest, however. He is as well a religious man, a philosopher, a serious citizen, and a decent human being.

And so this is the autobiography of at least a dozen men. It is as thoughtful and thought-filled as you would expect such a one man symposium to be.

From this you might get the impression that I am a Steve Allen fan. I cannot tell a lie. I am.

However, having read the half-baked dozen of theatrical autobiographies with their ersatz schmaltz, ghost written and ghost ridden confessions, and "As Told To" I - Have Sinned-For-Profit hysteria, if I were not a fan of Mr. Allen's his book would make me one. For Mr. Allen is an honest man.

In television, as we have learned, an honest man is rare. But even rarer is an honest man who writes well.

Of "a rather warlike tribe" of South Side Chicago Irish, as he tells it, Steve Allen's youth was kin to Studs Lonergan's.

His father was a vaudevillian. His mother a one-night stand comedienne. His boyhood went from boarding school to worse, boyish pranks (that his TV personality has not outgrown), running away from home (what home?), and all the rest; with a bit of Huck Finn-ism thrown in for good measure.

Years later when he became a disc jockey "breaking more records than I played" and a wrestling commentator, his boyish irreverence and tough-witted upbringing brightened his prose.

...he begins to say, a good-... Though he says... as a man began... tragedy descend... upon him, it began then, un-... in his turbulent youth, ... it does with us all.

The Steve Allen who is co-... chairman of the Hollywood Sane

Nuclear Committee and who sin-... cerely combats the causes of m.s. ... like Boccaccio before him, all of ... ery with the causes of democra- ... cy, saying: I am a do-gooder! The cynics be damned! was not born immaculately in a TV tube. He is a man born of the boy his autobiography belittles.

Christianity and Communism he would be the first to protest are the two words that occur his most often in this book.

Sometimes in just opposition, sometimes in comparison, often in opposition, though not super-... ficially so. Mr. Allen throughout his book seeks to find the true value of each. It is a tortuous search and one which gives him no easy peace, nor one for which he offers a sloganized solution.

There are some who will say he over-reaches his grasp, he is ill-equipped for his task. That may be. Yet, in a time when the pudgy little fingers of successful men so often greedy seek no more than petty self-satisfaction it is encouraging to see a man whose courage defies the limitations of the easy touch and does aspire to "the great ideas" of mankind. Of his knowledge of communism, let me just say, that though Mr. Allen defiantly says he is a subscriber to "The Worker", one doubts that he has gone deeper than its thin pages of the fat volumes of Marx. Had he done so, he would not attribute to communists the ideas of anti-Communists, as he does.

Let the reader not think however that this is a solemn or self-righteous book. Here are hilarious tales and inside insights of TV inanities to delight even an Ed Sullivan fan. Many is the time I found myself laughing aloud as I read, something I seldom do. But then too I found the humor had a thoughtful tone. What is comedy. I began to ask myself?

Comedy is not humorous, Steve Allen says. Knowing comedy as he does he says it is not humorous at all. It is cruel, it is insulting, it is sad, it is tragic;

"Comedy is about comedy," he writes. "What else are jokes about? They're about fat people, stingy people, dumbbells, small hotel rooms, drunks, sexual problems, high prices, war..."

"There may not be laughter in hell, but there couldn't possibly be laughter in heaven," Steve Allen says.

Like Charlie Chaplin before him, like Mark Twain before him, like Jonathan Swift before him, like Boccaccio before him, all of them men ridiculed as clowns, the satirist, unlike the clown, does not know that laughter is the balm he soothes our wounds with. If for a Steve Allen (and I imagine he would be the first to protest are the two words that occur his most often in this book. He is a true believer in humanity. Though he calls his beneficently Christianity, his philosophy is that of a seeker. If this is so then the name-tag is unimportant. Humanity is bedeviled with too many "es" and "isms" and as the Soviet poet Tvardovsky wisely noted at a recent Writers' Conference, in the arts, a name-tag doesn't, of itself, help much. Not that they don't exist. They just don't assist. In this sense Steve Allen may yet, if he has not yet, enter the heritage of the great satirists. Who can predict? Who knows?

Schooled in the kleiglight-blinded world of TV he has learned to see through the picture tube into the real world. He is now free to prove how wrong — or right — his talent is.

STEVE ALLEN Summary

Copy

The files of the FBI reveal that Mr. Steve Allen, who you advised resides at 16185 Woodville Road, Encino, California, has been the subject of limited security-type investigations conducted by this Bureau.

In December, 1959, Steve Allen was one of a number of sponsors for a banquet given for Norman Thomas, head of the Socialist Party of the United States.

Since 1959 Allen has been connected with the National Committee for Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE) and affiliated groups seeking a complete cessation of United States nuclear experiments. He has repeatedly spoken out against capital punishment. Allen did considerable work for the "Los Angeles Sobell Committee," an affiliate of the National Committee to Secure Justice for Morton Sobell in the Rosenberg Case, which has been cited by the House Committee on Internal Security.

By application dated June 12, 1963, at Los Angeles, Allen filed for and was subsequently issued a United States passport, D375217, after writing the Department of State in January to express his desire to visit mainland China. Allen is not known to have made the trip as planned.

In 1965 Allen was listed as a sponsor of a tribute to Congressional liberals who were being honored at a dinner in Beverly Hills, California, on August 13, 1965, for their opposition to the Administration's policy on Vietnam.

Attached is a copy of an FBI Identification Record, Number 258 904 B, concerning Allen whose full name is Stephen Valentine Patrick William Allen.
