mr. dolly, himself!

YOU are the greatest, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, And oh how you can really put over a song. When you record anything in your gravel voice We must buy it, man, for you leave us no choice. Your version of "Hello, Dolly!" is the last word.

One of the hummingest tunes we have ever heard! You sing the way your Lucille burns soul food! Red beans and rice to keep you in a happy mood! And your biggest hit came at age sixty-four. It just goes to show . . . that you never know.

"Satchmo," you were the greatest with your horn Way back before Cassius Clay was even born . . . Why you hit high notes which were unknown Until you, "Satchmo," decided to be born. All of your music is as beautiful as Lena Horne! And when you wail on the "Royal Garden Blues," I feel it deep down to my blue suede shoes.

You trumpet the greatness of America with your horn, And you are an inspiration to every child born. As a Good Will Ambassador you are beyond compare. Wherever you go fans gather to hear and to cheer A real swinging and singing all around nice guy Who is so busy living that he just "ain't got time to die!"

May you never ever wipe that big warm smile off your face, For as long as you can smile there is hope for the human race. You make everybody in the world want to stay alive If for no other reason than just to dig your jive.

Not only are you a great artist, but you also have a beautiful soul, And your fans pray that you will live forever—yet never grow old! When the word Beatles means only insects once again The world and William B will still call you friend.

You are as American as apple pie. Lucky you, being born on the 4th of July! And from the Atlantic to the Pacific The critics say that you are terrific. "Pops," to wrap up this jazz, you are Tops!

ENC 2

Dear Mr. Hoover, I thought you might like to see some of these letters I am trying to do my little bit to reach Negroes.

June 5, 1964

Mr. Robert Moses
New York World's Fair
Flushing, L.I. N.Y.

Dear Mr. Moses,

Louis Armstrong was born at the bottom of the well, one step from hell. But he kept the faith. He kept swinging. Now he has it made, eating high on the hog. Never again will he have to look at another hot dog. Pops proves that a man with a black skin can win! This is a message so many real dark Negroes need to remember. Too many of them give up the struggle and become dropouts, welfareers, winoes, dope addicts and muggers because they believe that being born with two strikes against them is just too much. They feel that it is easier for Lena Horne, Chubby Checker, Damita Jo, Ralph Bunche, Phillipa Schuyler, Langston Hughes, Eartha Kitt, Malcolm X and Adam Powell to be successful because they have a lot of white blood. They even believe that the NAACP really means the National Association for the Advancement of Certain Colored People! They feel that they will always be on the outside looking in, because in America to be black it is considered a sin. As a child I heard it said that

If you are white you are right.
If you are brown come around.
But if you are black stay back!

The old Spiritual "Sometimes I Feel Like A Motherless Child--A Long Ways From Home," expresses the soul-sickening sadness, loneliness and alienation of many highly visible Negroes. But Louis Armstrong, who is black and proud of it, didn't waste precious time feeling sorry for himself. (A noted African scholar, the late Dr. J. S. Kwegyir Aggrey said: "WHOEVER IS NOT PROUD OF HIS COLOR IS NOT FIT TO LIVE.") Instead he worked, practiced and prayed until he overcame all barriers. Now today he is one of the most beloved Show Biz personalities in this whole crazy, mixed-up wide world. The New Orleans Jazz Club recently acquired the old beat-up shack where he was born and will turn it into a museum. Louis Armstrong had a song in his heart and music in his soul and he didn't let the imperfections of our society disillusion, disenchant and sour him. He was a Positive Thinker from way back. Thus Mr. Armstrong has become a Beautiful American. It wasn't easy. But everybody has problems.

On July 4th, Louis Armstrong will be 64 years old. I think it would be a wonderful idea if you were to make his birthday LOUIS ARMSTRONG DAY or better yet MR. DOLLY DAY at the World's Fair. For over 40 years this great American has been making us happy. He deserves such an honor. Look, he toppled the Beatles!

A Louis Armstrong Day at the Fair would inspire many Negroes who believe that God cursed them when he made them black. They shouldn't blame God because God is no respecter of persons; yea, God is color-blind, never seeing the color of a man's skin--only the quality of his heart and mind. This is the ideal all men of good will are trying to live up to.

Yours sincerely,

b7c

b7c

16

Mr. Fred Robbins,
7NEW 585 5th. Avenue
New York, N.Y.

July 22, 1964

Dear Mr. Robbins,

As a 20-year friend of Pops I know you dig this poem. He is one of the most lovable Show biz personalities! For over 40 years he has been making us happy. Now it's high time that we make him happy. His 64th. birthday this coming July 4th. should be a real swinging affair. The President should invite him to the White House! Right? After all, it is just like I said:

Pops trumpets the greatness of America with his horn,
and he is an inspiration to every child born.

Pops proves that a man with a black skin can win. This is contrary to what the leftist propogandists would have the non-whites believe. This is all the more reason why this poem should circle this whole cotton pickin' globe! It would be a good idea to have Tellulah Bankhead, who is from Alabama, record it. (She can pick one from among my 200-odd other poems for the flip side.) This would show that not all whites behind the Honiny Grits Curtain are rabid racists. Some of them are beginning to see the light. They are gaining the courage to do that which is morally right. So I look forward to a future which will be bright. All men of Good Will should honor this great American on an International Mr. Lolly Day. Yeah, yeah, yeah! How about a Mr. Lolly Day at the World's Fair? Smashing!... I was in the barber shop last Saturday and somebody played "Hello, Dolly!" on the juke box and ~~everybody~~ started singing along with Pops in a gravel voice. It was beautiful. Solid Americana. Rejuvenating. This song will go on and on and on... like Old Man River!

Am I glad that I picked up on your hour-long interview with Pops a few Sundays ago! I was inspired to write the lines about the "Foyal Garden Blues." It should be played more often. I was also inspired to write "Love At First Bite." My fans can hardly wait for this one. The title is crazy. Like me. I am only a clown, spreading happiness and joy around. Uptown and down. Why? Because I don't like to see anybody frown. You use 64 muscles when you frown, but only 16 when you smile. It pays to smile. This is a fundamental truth. Pops and his people came into this crazy world with an understanding of this basic principle of life. Learn how to smile. Life is worthwhile!

The next Giant of Jazz whom I shall immortalize in a poem is the mighty Duke of Ellington. He is such a complex genius that I shall have to do beucoup research. But I shall nail him down so that even John Doe will be able to dig him. The title is "DUKE ELLINGTON: ROYALTY PERSONIFIED." A couple of lines:

The mighty Duke has written over 3000 compositions and earned over 20 million bucks;
But he is a democratic aristocrat, why I once saw Duke in Chock Full O'Nuts, shucks!

Later for the rest. Remember: "IT IS ALL RIGHT TO LIE ABOUT YOUR AGE." All the women in the world are waiting on this poem. But it is dedicated to Jack Benny!

Yours for fun. /

LOUIS ARMSTRONG, musician, was born in 1900. He is known especially for his jazz trumpet playing, and as a creator of a distinctively American art form. Recordings of his efforts as singer, clarinetist, composer and orchestra leader number about 1500, and many of them are collector's items. His career began in 1917, and by 1925 he had organized his own jazz band. His three decades of touring in the United States, Europe, Africa and Australia, have ensured his position as one of America's foremost unofficial ambassadors of good will.
